Emory University’s
Program in Ancient Mediterranean Studies
announces the Fall 2015
Ancient Mediterranean Studies Colloquium Series
On Tuesday afternoons (usually)

September 8 – William Gilders (Department of Religion)
“Textual Ritual: The Case of Yom Kippur (Day of Atonement) in Ancient Judaism”

October 6 – Peter O’Connell (Department of Classics, University of Georgia) Callaway S423
“How Litigious Were the Athenians Anyway?”

October 14 (Wednesday) – Yannis Hamilakis (University of Southampton, UK) Tate Room

November 10 – Garth Tissol (Department of Classics) Callaway S423
“Cassandra Becomes a Roman: from Vergil’s Aeneid to Berlioz’ Les Troyens”

Refreshments (as usual) will be served!

For further information or questions, contact
Cynthia Patterson, Professor of History, cpatt01@emory.edu